

Brandon Trujillo

Policy advisor with the Wisconsin Technical College System

Brandon Trujillo is a policy advisor with the Wisconsin Technical College System, which establishes statewide policies and standards for the programs and services provided by the Wisconsin's 16 technical colleges. In this capacity, he assists the System Executive Team in state and federal legislative, policy, and budget initiatives. In this work, he conducts complex policy studies to promote recommendations for administrative or legislative change and represents the WTCS Board, the System, and the System President at public and private meetings at the state and national level. He has over 15 years of experience working as a Policy Advisor, Government Affairs Coordinator and Education Director for higher education governing bodies. Brandon received a Bachelor of Arts Degree in Communication from the University of Oklahoma.